Pipeline Bets Negotiate Best Option - Mt Seymour

When the SRD released the report I'm all in, aren't you? Kind of like a on possible protection for the Morte poker game where the last players Lake ,Chinese Mt. and Mount shove their piles of chips into the Seymour area the editor of the Birds Eye referred to the area, for a second time, as a "mid-island playground." This trivial sounding designation may be the result of efforts to coastline, mammal and fish and promote the areas recreational uses while ignoring another important goal: conservation. While much of Quadra is being being asked to wager but our bet is taken, our pile of chips, quantified systematically logged, and it's unrealistic to think that won't somehow, measured somehow into continue, it's important to protect a "cleanup" costs going somehow to one with the greatest economic gain. Consider then that if logged today the area has little value to anyone for the next sixty years or more. Logging would provide jobs for a few individuals for a few months. Leaving it intact allows for economic benefits for decades. And in years to come the trees would still be there, grown in value.

While any government intervention would have to come from the provincial level it's unlikely they have the will or resources to act, and ongoing land claims negotiations would be a factor.

I believe the best option is to negotiate directly, as a community, with TimberWest. They have shown a willingness to address concerns and have honoured their agreements in the past. This would require the various interest groups on the island to agree on common goals and would need compromise on all sides. It would be worth the effort if a significant piece of the island remained intact.

Friday Flicks presents Faces Places

On April 6, 7:45 at Quadra Community Centre, Friday Flicks presents the final offering in its spring series. Faces Places France 2017 Directors: JR, Agnès Varda, in French (English subtitles)

In Faces Places, 88-year-old nouvelle vague legend Agnès Varda teams up with 33-year-old French photographer and muralist JR to create an enchanting travelogue/road movie. Sharing a lifelong passion for images and the means by which they are created, displayed and shared, the duo hits the road to travel through France's small villages, meeting locals, learning their stories, and producing epic-size portraits of them on houses, barns, storefronts and trains. Faces Places documents these heartwarming encounters, as well as the unlikely, tender friendship Varda and JR formed along the way.

"The film's finale is puzzling, heartbreaking and ultimately celebratory. And wobbles the line between documentary and fiction so strongly that the vibrations will linger in your heart for days afterwards." Glenn Kenny (Roger Ebert. com)

Celebrate Local Food --Potluck

You are invited to an Easter Weekend local food potluck, to celebrate and share recipes and food grown on Quadra. This is to get us thinking about meeting our local food needs and building food security here. If there is interest, we hope to hold these celebrations on a quarterly basis. At this time of year think about bringing food you preserved for the winter, or an early spring harvest or forage, about enough for 6 servings. (If you do not have anything you harvested but would still like to come, something you purchased that was produced on Quadra or nearby is totally acceptable).

We will all share what we are doing now and discuss about what we can do to become more effective at producing, preserving, preparing and eating our own food into the future. So if you are interested, please mark your calendar for Saturday March 31, 5:30pm, at the Quadra Community Centre. Everyone welcome. Sierra Quadra is once again pleased to organize our island's annual Beach Clean-up. April 22, 2018, will be the 21st successive year in which islanders and visitors have joined with local businesses and others to make this event a resounding success. It is our contribution to the Earth Day celebrations that occur around the

Sunday, April 22

After winter's and spring's high tides and storms, we find that our beaches are once again strewn with plastic, rope, styrofoam, tires, netting, aquaculture debris, etc. These materials are not only unsightly but they can also be hazardous to all forms of marine life. We also know that wave action will eventually grind plastic into fine particles, allowing them to enter the food chain as toxins to be consumed

Beach Clean-up headquarters will be set up at Rebecca Spit on April 22nd. A large banner will mark the site. Starting at 10:00 am you may pick up garbage bags from this location and then head for your favourite beach. Should you already be equipped, drop by from 11:00 am to 2:00 pm for free lunch, coffee, tea and juice.

To accommodate community members who are not able to join us on Sunday, April 22nd, beach garbage can be collected and left at the designated pick-up sites starting on Sunday, April 15th. We are encouraging people to take the initiative to collect beach garbage from locations that they know need cleaning, and to stockpile garbage in the advertised pick-up sites. This can be done up to a week ahead of the Beach Clean-up Day on April 22nd. Some garbage bags will be available at each site. Last pickup on the April 22nd will be at 2:00 pm.

On April 22nd, all collected garbage can also be brought to the Beach Clean-up headquarters or left at any of the following pick-up sites. A sign will be placed at each location to mark where the garbage should be piled. A reminder again, the last pick up at each site is at 2:00 pm. Any material deposited after 2:00 pm will remain there until the following year.

Amplify Her Documentary coming to Quadra Island

Part motion comic, part live action, the much anticipated documentary film AMPLIFY HER will make it's Quadra Island premiere April 7th at Kameleon Cafe.

AMPLIFY HER is a film, graphic novel, and animated motion comic series exploring the rise of female artists in the electronic music scene. Imagined and brought to life by more than 30 female creators from around North America, the 89-minute feature follows seven up-and-coming stars as they find their unique voices within a male-dominated realm. On the surface, it's a story about women in the electronic music industry, but the film's deeper message is the resurgence of "the feminine" in Western culture.

Along with the film, the AMPLIFY HER graphic novel will be available for purchase at the screening. It is a collaboration between several female artists and writers, including Quadra Island's Tara Williamson.

Doors will open for the screening at 6pm, with the film beginning at 7pm. Admission by donation.

Following the screening, an after party will be hosted at the Quadra Legion featuring a roster of female DJ's and producers from Vancouver Island. The event will be headlined by Victoria's Applecat, one of the artists featured in the film.

QI Seniors Housing's Board is pleased to announce that we have selected Ketza Pacific Construction (1993) Ltd. of Campbell River as the Construction Manager (CM) for our new 16-unit seniors residence at 688 Harper Road in Q Cove. Pre-qualified local companies declined to submit a CM proposal because they had prior contract commitments (construction is booming on Quadra. - which is great.) Ketza Pacific was 1 of 2 well-qualified firms that submitted a CM proposal. The other company was IWDC of Nanaimo.

Ketza Pacific has a wide range of experience on Quadra Island over the past 30 years. The company is currently working on the foundations for the water tower for the Cape Mudge village and re-facing the Cape Mudge Lighthouse. Ketza Pacific constructed the original Quathiaski Cove sewer system, the Quadra Credit Union on Cortes Island, the new Campbell River Indian Band (Weiwaikum First Nation) Administration Office and several wood-frame apartment buildings like ours.

As CM, Ketza Pacific will assist the architect, engineers and our Society to complete the design of the seniors residence by incorporating their construction experience. The goal is to design a building that is economical and efficient to construct while meeting all of QISHS and BC Housing requirements. Once the design is complete, Ketza Pacific will tender all of the sub-trade work contracts (open to local trades) and sign a fixed price contract to construct the building.

After a busy winter of planning the exterior and electrical/mechanical/engineering/water and energy design requirements, we intend to finalize these and the building interior design by the end of May 2018. BC Housing authorization to begin construction is expected at the end of June 2018. If all goes according to plan, the seniors residence should be complete and ready for occupancy Spring 2019.

How you can help: We'll do fund-raising in 2018 for the project and specific items we couldn't afford to include otherwise. Your cash and in-kind donations of materials, equipment, labour and skills help determine the project's 'bottom-line', since QISHS must repay BC Housing funding through a hefty mortgage. To make an In-kind donation now or during construction, please contact Betty Doak so we can quantify that in our cost-of-construction estimate. 285-3590; md3590@telus.net

The Magic of Culinary & Medicinal Herbs ~

Recipes & Remedies

On Monday April 9, Lucretia "Lu" Schanfarber presents her informative and entertaining slide show and talk "The Magic of Culinary & Medicinal Herbs: Recipes & Remedies."

Lu will focus on both traditional folklore and recent scientific aspects of herbs and herbalism while giving lots of practical tips for growing, preserving and using your own cultivated and wild herbs. She will also provide a comprehensive list of "deer-proof" herbs. The evening will include Lu's homemade organic berry ice cream and a special herbal tea blend grown in her garden at Bold

The talk is at Quadra Island Community Centre from 7-9 pm. Admission for members is free and for non-members is only $3.00

About Herbs & Herbalism

As a category of plants, herbs tend to have a high concentration of various phyto (plant) chemicals, many of which possess powerful antioxidant activity. We use herbs daily - for both culinary and medicinal purposes. The terms "herbalism" and "herbology" generally refer to the study and/or practice of using plants medicinally and therapeutically. Almost every gardener grows at least a few herbs in their garden. Herbs have a magical, almost storybook air about them. We are drawn by their intense aromas and flavours while pollinators are attracted to their flowers. Herbs are usually the easiest plants to grow, with few nutrient demands. In fact, most Mediterranean herbs grow best in nutrient poor soil, as long as the drainage is adequate. "Whenever we make basil pesto, brew mint tea or soak our feet practicing a very simple form of herbalism," according to Lu. "It's easy to grow a wide variety of the most delicious and healthpromoting herbs in our gardens. We are also blessed with an abundance of wild plants and mushrooms that are in the realm of gourmet. And our forests are full of natural plant medicines." About Lu Schanfarber

Lu is a writer, editor and educator focused on organic gardening and natural health care. She was a contributing editor to The Encyclopedia of Natural Health published by alive Books, a regular writer for alive and Healthy Living Guide magazines and the executive director of the alive Academy of Nutrition. Her radio show "Healthy Stuff" aired weekly in Vancouver. She is a certified nutritional consultant and studied herbal medicine with Dr. John Christopher. Lu worked as a consultant with Dominion Herbal College and studied with Dr. Bernard Jensen. She also trained with Vegetarian Chef Ganesh Nanda and created recipes for Woodlands Natural Foods Restaurants and LifeStream Natural Foods Vegetarian Delis in Vancouver. She lives simply and gardens organically on Quadra Island with her husband Lee and their Airedale, Molly. Lu is dedicated to creating and tending edible, healing landscapes.

Peace River Valley Coffee House

Quadra is truly an amazing community. We are always thankful for the generosity shown and the commitment made to all our island groups and projects on and off the island.

We are thrilled to say that those who attended the coffee house last weekend, donated $3500 towards the First Nations Court Challenge to the Site C dam and to the expenses of the Peace River Valley Landowners Association who along with the West Moberley and Prophet River peoples have been fighting the construction of this dam for decades. One very committed and empathetic person made a $1000 donation. Together with the funds raised for this cause in January, Quadra Islanders have contributed $4300 to save the Peace River Valley. Islanders signed 350 letters which were mailed individually to Premier Horgan and hand delivered to Claire Trevena.

It was very special to meet and hear Ken Boon, third generation Peace Valley farmer who made the trip south to speak to us. Our event spawned a whole week of Site C town hall meetings across Vancouver Island, in all of which Ken participated. Ken told us how much our January actions on Quadra meant to people in the Peace Valley who in Ken's words were "in a very dark place at that time." The last minute addition of Steve Gray, activist and organizer from Mechosin added to our commitment to continue to fight the government's appallingly bad decision to go forward with with project in spite of First Nations opposition.

Every part of the evening was accomplished by volunteers from the set up crew to the dessert cooks. We would like to thank our super

Our intrepid mistress of ceremony, Lola Murray, who with conviction and knowledge listed what we will lose if the valley is flooded, from migratory bird stop over marshes and fish species to valuable arable farm land and the connectivity between animal corridors. She asked and you gave to try to stop these losses. Candace Holmes donated her time for the beautiful big sign at the cove and Robyn Budd designed that strong and eye catching poster. Thanks go as well to Aroma Coffee, the Lovin Oven, Java Bay Cafe, Spirit of the West, and Sierra Quadra.

Almost all our other expenses were paid for by the organizers, Geraldine, Sonya and Susan. We are so grateful for such a successful evening.

$26M waterfront improvements begin this summer - Upgrades along Hwy19A ready to roll

An extensive, three-year renewal project begins this summer in Campbell River to deliver major upgrades to the waterfront corridor along Highway 19A from Rockland Road to the Maritime Heritage Centre.

These waterfront improvements include three key upgrades: updating the waterfront sewer line between Rockland Road and the Maritime Heritage Centre, a rebuild of the Big Rock Boat Ramp and completing the next phase of Highway 19A improvements.

"This work will bring a number of long-term benefits to Campbell River," says Mayor Andy Adams. "We now have the funding to move forward with these related projects, and we've coordinated the timing to maximize efficiencies and minimize disruption as we upgrade our highway and sewer infrastructure. We look forward to the finished results, which will greatly improve the livability of our city."

While planning has been underway for some time, residents will see construction get started at the beginning of this summer, particularly between 1st Avenue and the Maritime Heritage Centre and at the Big Rock Boat Ramp. The first phase of construction work is expected to go out to tender shortly.

For the waterfront sewer work, which will begin this summer, significant excavation will be required to lay the new gravity-fed sewer and related utilities. While two-way traffic is intended to be maintained in 2018, the project work will inevitably cause disruption to traffic, parking, and in some areas, property along the route. The project team is reaching out to people who will be directly affected by changes to traffic – and updates will be shared with everyone on the project webpage, via social media, published notices, news stories and more.

"This summer's work sets us up for the more extensive work scheduled for 2020, which will require closures along the highway," says Ron Neufeld, deputy city manager. "The project team will be working hard to help everyone know what's happening when and where and how to move efficiently around the project area over the next three years."

For more information on the projects and what's to come, visit www.campbellriver.ca/construction

Museum to mark 60th Anniversary of Ripple Rock Explosion

The Museum at Campbell River's 60th Anniversary coincides with the 60th Anniversary of the Ripple Rock explosion. To celebrate both, the Museum is hosting an evening at the Tidemark Theatre on April 5 from 7 pm-9 pm to remember the blast that 'shook the world'.

Ripple Rock, an underwater mountain within Seymour Narrows near Campbell River BC, was a marine hazard responsible for more than 20 large vessels and at least 100 smaller vessels sinking or being damaged. Before its destruction in 1958, Ripple Rock claimed at least 114 lives.

When Ripple Rock blew at 9:31:02 am April 5, 1958, the sight was stupendous. Seven hundred thousand tons (635,028 tonnes) of rock and water erupted in a blast that reached a height of 1,000 feet (305 m). The spectacle lasted less than 10 seconds before the debris was engulfed in a cloud of gas.

At the Tidemark on April 5 there will be a screening of the original CBC coverage of the event from 1958. Following that film will be a showing of the Museum's documentary 'Remembering Ripple Rock'. This film was produced through a partnership between CRTV and the Museum at Campbell River in 2008 in order to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the explosion. It is a documentary that captures the reflections of those who remember the blast day of April 5th, 1958. The film is an interesting mix of local recollection alongside national television coverage. There will be other features during the evening, including an appearance by the Museum's famous Ripple Rock puppet.

Tickets are $7 and are available at the Tidemark by calling 250-287-PINK or http://tidemarktheatre.com/event/ripple-rock-celebrating-60-years/

Also in celebration of the Ripple Rock explosion, there will be showings of the Ripple Rock puppet show at 2pm on Wednesday April 4 and Thursday April 5 at 2pm in the Tidemark lobby. These puppet shows are free and will be followed by a fun craft.
